

Antiques Enthusiasts To Gather For Miami Beach Antique Show

US Antique Shows Hosts January 30–February 3 Event, Featuring New Categories & Inaugural Jewelry Series

MIAMI BEACH, FLA. — For its 53rd year, US Antique Shows welcomes attendees and exhibitors back to the Original Miami Beach Antique Show, which will take place January 30–February 3 at the Miami Beach Convention Center. This must-attend event showcases 1,000 established dealers from across the globe, featuring Renaissance to Art Deco-era collections such as fine art, American and European silver, antique jewelry, Seventeenth–Nineteenth Century furniture, and more.

To broaden its attendee base, this year's show will also introduce a new collection of categories in the Miami Beach Convention Center's Flamingo Ballroom, including antique weaponry, maps and militaria.

US Antique Shows is also a proponent of continuing antique jewelry education and will premiere the Original Miami Beach Antique Jewelry Series prior to the start of the show on January 30. The jewelry conference, January 28–29, will include educational sessions from notable jewelry experts as well as a complimentary tour of the David Webb Exhibit at the Norton Museum of Art and the Vizcaya Museum & Gardens.

needs of individuals with autism and their families. Raffle tickets will be available to win prizes including special antique pieces. The grand prize winner will receive a stainless steel Rolex Datejust watch donated by Raymond Lee Jewelers of Boca Raton, Fla. An additional winner will receive a pair of Miami Heat tickets from the Miami Herald.

Raffle tickets can be purchased during the show at $25 each, five tickets for $100. All monies collected will benefit Autism Speaks, Inc.

Show times Thursday to Sunday are from noon to 8 pm and Monday, from noon to 6 pm. Admission is $20 to attend all five days.

The Miami Beach Convention Center is at 901 Convention Center Drive. For information, 239-732-6642 or www.miamibeachantiqueshow.com.
